MARK SLADE'S NEW BABY

Mark and Melinda Slade present the most heartwarming production of the year, weighing in at 7 lb., 4 oz., in full color—with sound! Date of release: March 21st. Final title: Morgan Van Blacom Slade.

That's a lot of name for a mighty little man. The "V.B." part, of course, happens to be Mark's own middle name (his mother's family). "Morgan" gets first billing, says Melinda, because she just happens to like those automobiles!

Fatherhood comes to Mark just at the right moment to enhance the "new image" he'll be projecting on The High Chaparral this fall.

As Billy Blue Cannon, Mark's been getting more fan mail than almost anyone on the lot. But most of it asked why he hadn't "grown up" yet on the series. So-o-o, he's being given more thinking to do, along with more action and romance.

Mark never understood the letters that read: "I just love it when you whimper—it turns me on!" Now he does. And turns 'em over to Morgan.
